

Choosing an electric generation supplier

In the past, Jersey Central Power & Light (JCP&L), your local distribution company, provided every aspect of your electric service. This included generating the electricity and delivering it to your home or business. Through the New Jersey Energy Choice program you are able to choose an electric generation supplier, to generate the electricity. JCP&L will continue to deliver the electricity and maintain the same poles and wires. You have the opportunity to choose a third-party supplier based on the pricing or because of other services or programs it offers. The choice is yours and it may result in cost savings. If you need more time to choose, or decide not to choose at all, JCP&L will supply the generation component of your electricity.
